Chapter 336: The Revival of Go Gun-Hee

In the grand halls of Umbra Citadel, Sung Jin-Woo sat on his throne, his mind wandering to the memories of his old life on Earth. Among those memories, one figure stood out—Go Gun-Hee, the former chairman of the Hunter's Association in the previous timeline. A man who had supported Sung Jin-Woo during his rise to power, Go Gun-Hee had been a symbol of strength and wisdom in the chaotic days of the first awakening.

The Decision to Revive

Sung Jin-Woo felt a profound respect for Go Gun-Hee, not just for his actions in the other timeline but for the kindness and determination he had shown. Despite the wealth and power he held in this timeline as an ordinary man, Sung Jin-Woo believed that Go Gun-Hee deserved a second chance at a greater life.

Sitting on his throne, Sung Jin-Woo raised his hand, and the Jewel of Creation within his chest glowed brightly. With a single command, he reached across timelines and dimensions, summoning the essence and soul of Go Gun-Hee.

The Revival

In the sacred chamber of the Palace of the Divine Legacy within the Absolute Realm, a radiant pillar of light descended. Within the light, the form of Go Gun-Hee materialized, his once frail and aged body now restored to its prime. His appearance was regal, his physique strong and towering, a reflection of the life and potential Sung Jin-Woo had envisioned for him.

As the light dimmed, Go Gun-Hee opened his eyes, initially confused but gradually understanding the divine presence around him.

Go Gun-Hee: "Where... am I? This place... it feels... divine."

Sung Jin-Woo stepped forward, his towering 30-meter form radiating both warmth and authority.

Sung Jin-Woo: "You are in the Absolute Realm, Go Gun-Hee. I have revived you, not as the man you once were, but as someone who will stand among the greatest of my creations. You are no longer bound by the limits of mortality."

Go Gun-Hee's Role in the Absolute Realm

Sung Jin-Woo assigned Go Gun-Hee to the Palace of the Divine Legacy, a grand estate located within the Absolute Realm and shared by members of the Sung Dynasty (Sung Clan). The palace was a place of reverence and history, dedicated to preserving the legacy of Sung Jin-Woo and his closest allies.

New Responsibilities:

1. Advisor to the Sung Dynasty: Go Gun-Hee's wisdom and experience made him a valuable counselor for the Divine Triad and the Sung Clan.

2. Overseer of Mortal Realms: Tasked with observing and guiding the development of mortal civilizations, ensuring harmony and growth.

3. Commander of the Divine Legacy Guard: A newly formed unit within the Absolute Realm tasked with safeguarding the Palace and its treasures.

Go Gun-Hee’s Divine Form

Revived with divine power, Go Gun-Hee gained abilities beyond that of any mortal:

Eternal Vitality: His body was immortal, resistant to all forms of harm and decay.

Aura of Leadership: A commanding presence that inspired loyalty and courage in all who followed him.

Divine Insight: The ability to perceive the thoughts and emotions of others, making him an unparalleled diplomat and strategist.

Reunion with the Sung Clan

The Sung Clan, including Sung Su-Ho and his descendants, welcomed Go Gun-Hee with open arms. They recognized his importance in Sung Jin-Woo's life and treated him with the utmost respect.

Sung Su-Ho approached Go Gun-Hee with a smile.
Sung Su-Ho: "Welcome to the family, Chairman Go. My father speaks highly of you. I’m honored to meet the man who once stood beside him."

Go Gun-Hee, humbled by the reception, nodded.
Go Gun-Hee: "I never imagined such a fate. To be here, among gods and legends... I will do my best to uphold this honor."

The Start of a New Legacy

As Go Gun-Hee settled into his new life, he marveled at the Absolute Realm's beauty and the unity of its people. No longer burdened by age or mortality, he vowed to dedicate himself fully to the vision of the Divine Triad.

Sung Jin-Woo, watching from the throne of Umbra Citadel, felt a deep sense of fulfillment. The revival of Go Gun-Hee was not just an act of gratitude—it was a testament to Sung Jin-Woo’s desire to honor the past while building a brighter future for all.
